San Francisco, Dec. 15.—Rapid progress is being made in the erection of the great Panama-Pacific exposition auditorium at the civic center in San Francisco. This magnificent structure will be completed at a total cost of $1,060,000 and will have a seating capacity of 12,000. The block upon which the building is being erected cost the city $701,437, and at the close of the exposition the auditorium reverts to the city.

DELTA HAS A BIG TURNOUT

Delta, Jan. 15.—Three blows from a sledge in the hands of Governor William Spry at 1 o'clock this afternoon drove home a golden spike, the first in the new Delta branch of the Salt Lake route. When the last blow was struck the Delta band broke forth and the immense crowd gathered to see principal event of "Railroad" day, cheered itself hoarse.

The little town of Delta was transformed into a city today by the crowds which came from all parts of Millard county, from Salt Lake and from Ogden to witness the official opening of the new branch.

The weather was somewhat inclement, but in spite of the cold wind and threatening skies, the people poured in steadily all day and in the afternoon it was estimated that there were 2500 persons in attendance. Actual count of the number served with barbecued meat at noon showed a total of 2500. So great was the crowd that the meeting in the town hall held in the afternoon was overflowed and it became necessary for the various speakers to go to the other large amusement hall and address those unable to press into the regular meeting.

Although the morning broke cold and dreary with a strong wind blowing, the spirits of the Delta people were not dampened and they greeted the day with a cannonade of anvils. The party occupying the special train which left Salt Lake last night arose early and partook of breakfast at one of the hotels as guests of the town.

Then came an automobile ride over the north portion of the irrigation district which is to be pierced by the new line. This trip was interesting to the visitors from outside of Millard county, who showed the wonderful resources of the section and the richness of the territory to be traversed by the new branch. Eight automobiles took the trip and swung in a circle northwest from Delta, covering about the same territory that the new railroad line will penetrate.

When the special guests had returned from their ride they were hurried to the new track about half a mile north of the main part of town, where the first spike was to be driven.

Long before noon a crowd had started to gather and when the governor arrived there were at least 1000 persons waiting. At the spike driving the first speaker was George A. Snow, vice president of the Delta Land & Water company, one of those chiefly responsible for the building up of the project. After making a brief talk in which he predicted that Delta would some day be the county seat of Millard county and also the largest diversified agricultural shipping station on the Salt Lake route, if not in Utah, he introduced Governor Spry.

The governor's talk before driving the golden spike was somewhat facetious, but he seriously predicted that Delta, with its present evidence of remarkable growth, might do as much or even more than had been predicted for it by Mr. Snow.

After the ceremony was finished the entire crowd adjourned to one of the two large town halls, where an elegant dinner of barbecued meat and home-made "trimmings" had been prepared. The dinner was fit for the taste of an epicure. There was even music with the meal and the band appropriately played southern airs while the delighted crowd ate "Dixie" barbecued meat and sweet potatoes.

PRESIDENT IS CRITICISED

Salt Lake, Jan. 16.—President Wilson, the administration tariff bill and Democratic principles in general came in for a severe criticism at the opening session of the National Woolgrowers' association in the Elks club yesterday. Every officer of the association took a whirl at the tariff, the proposed leasing of public ranges and the actions of the administration in putting wool on the free list.

Perhaps the most startling denunciation of the methods of the administration was embodied in the report of Secretary S. W. McClure, who was in Washington for four months at the time when President Wilson attacked the lobbying methods being used during the discussion of the tariff bill.

Secretary McClure said that President Wilson ordered wool on the free list against the advice of senators and others who declared it would be the ruin of the woolgrowing industry. He reminded them that Representative Oscar Underwood, sponsor of the tariff measure in the lower house of congress, had planned a 15 per cent duty on wool. But, he declared, the proposed duties by Mr. Underwood would have made him a strong candidate at the next presidential election, so President Wilson stepped in and demanded free wool.

Mr. McClure read correspondence from the White house in which President Hagenbarth of the association was informed that President Wilson could not take up the wool question with the wool men until a definite programme of legislative enactment had come before him. Mr. McClure said that from this the officers of the association presumed they would get a hearing at the proper time. A few days later, said Mr. McClure, President Wilson came out with an absolute demand for free wool.

"When I was in school I was taught that government consisted of three branches, legislative, executive and judicial," said Dr. M. J. Wilson of Wyoming at the afternoon session. "Now, if I were asked to define the government, I would simply say—'Woodrow'."

Thus it was, from the opening speech of President Hagenbarth at the morning session, down through the list of officers, Vice President M. I. Powers, Vice President A. J. Knollin and Secretary S. W. McClure, the tariff measure was berated and the administration criticised for the way in which the association holds it treated the sheep men.

The speakers advised the wool men to hang on and do the best they could for the next three years and a half and predicted that thereafter there would be a new order of things.

SEARCH FOR APPLEQUIST

Salt Lake, Jan. 16.—Police officers of every city in the United States have been asked to co-operate in a nation-wide search for Otto Applequist, whom the members of the sheriff's force and the local police are convinced is one of the murderers of John G. Morrison and John Arling Morrison, his son at the Morrison grocery store in Salt Lake last Saturday night.

Telegrams containing descriptions of Applequist were sent broadcast yesterday and they will be followed by hundreds of circulars, containing a picture and a detailed description of Applequist. These circulars will be sent to police departments and sheriffs in almost every city in the United States, and the local officers are hopeful that the circulars may result in the arrest of the fugitive.

A formal charge of murder in the first degree will be filed against Joseph Hillstrom, the wounded man who was arrested early Tuesday morning. This course was decided upon last night by Acting Sheriff Atha Williams. Mr. Williams believes the chain of circumstances implicating Hillstrom is strong enough to warrant proceeding against him on the charge of murder.

Another development in the murder case was the arrest yesterday of Fred Larson, a friend of Otto Applequist, who was picked up by members of the police department. He is being held in the city jail on suspicion of having known something of the murders. Larson admits knowing Applequist well and Hillstrom slightly.

Larson said that he visited the Esalus home in Murray to see Applequist some time in December, and was invited there for Christmas dinner, but did not go. He said he met Hillstrom at the Esalus house and last time he saw Applequist, he said, was on Christmas day. The police, however, declare that they have reason to believe that he and Applequist were together more recently.

Robert Erickson, who was arrested by the sheriff's force on Wednesday on the suspicion that he might have been an accomplice in the murders, was yesterday released, having convinced the officers of his innocence. W. J. Williams, who was twice arrested on suspicion of having knowledge of the murders, is still held at the county jail.

Deputy Sheriff Williams learned last night that Applequist was at one time a sailor and was tattooed in several places. On one arm is tattooed the figure of a woman in tight and on the other an anchor. The figure of the woman is in red and blue ink and the anchor in blue.

Sheriff T. A. DeVine of Weber county, telephoned the sheriff's office in Salt Lake last night that a man had said he saw Applequist in an Ogden cafe at 10 o'clock in the evening. Efforts by the Ogden officers to confirm the story proved futile.

BRIGHAM JUSTICE IS TURNED DOWN

Brigham City, Jan. 15.—The city council met last evening and Mayor William T. Davis submitted his list of appointments for various city offices. All the recommendations for appointments were ratified with the exception of the mayor's appointee for justice of the peace, Justice C. O. Christensen was named for reappointment, but the council remained mum, until the mayor asked for a contrary vote, which was unanimously "no."

There were no comments made and the council resumed its consideration of other appointees. Christensen was nominated in the non-partisan convention for justice of the peace, but as the law was changed making this office an appointive one, the matter was up to the mayor.

The other officers named are as follows: Marshal, Joseph H. Lillywhite; deputy marshal, Hyrum S. Jensen; night patrolmen, Charles Cheal and Heber Smith, Jr.; board of health, Dr. R. A. Pearce, C. W. Merrill and Peter Knudson; road supervisor, Christen Christensen; superintendent of waterworks, Leo Woodworth; attorney, William J. J. Shumway; collector, James G. Jensen; tax collector, Carl Jeppson; building inspector, Warren S. Taylor; clock tender, W. S. Taylor; city engineer, Professor C. O. Roskelley; park tender, J. O. Hansen.

COUNTY ROAD CALLS OFF BOND ELECTION

Salt Lake, Jan. 16.—Immediately after the city commission fixed February 18 as the day for holding the special water and sewer bond election, yesterday morning, the county commissioners met and decided to rescind their action calling a special road bond election for February 25.

Two bond elections held so close together would tend to the defeat of both and would mean almost certain defeat for the bonds voted on last, it was declared, and rather than lead a forlorn hope, the commissioners decided to withdraw from the bonding game for the present. In rescinding the call for a special election, the commissioners will not merely postpone the election, but will withdraw the whole question of road bonds for the present. Whether the election will be held this year, at all, remains to be seen, according to one of the commissioners. At least it will not be held until next summer, or until the effect of the city's bond election has been lost sight of.

"We realize that the city's need for water and sewer improvements is imperative and is probably paramount to the question of good roads in the county at this time," said Oscar W. Carlson, chairman of the board of commissioners. "The city has called its election for a date earlier than ours and the only way out of the predicament, I believe, is for the county to withdraw from the field, not only to save itself from probable defeat, but to give the city a fair field for its bond election."

VIOLENT SEAS BREAK HOLES IN STEAMER.

Cherbourg, France, Jan. 15.—The steamer Majestic, which left here for New York last night with Francis Bowes Sayre and his wife, formerly Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, among her passengers, returned to port this morning. Violent seas have broken a number of the starboard holes and she was taking water through them. Repairs will be made here. It is expected that the liner will be delayed only a few hours.

NENZEL AND ROCHESTER

Attorney Sam Platt, representing the plaintiffs in the case of Stevens Bros. and others against Nenzel, the Rochester Mines, secured from Judge Farrington yesterday an enlarged injunction restraining Nenzel and his wife from voting at the annual meeting on January 14 the 250,000 shares of stock claimed to be owned by the plaintiff and for the possession of which the parties are fighting, says the Reno News. The injunction also prevents Nenzel from using treasury stock of the Rochester Mines company to buy other mining properties in which he is interested and restrains him from causing a contract to be executed by the company to build a mill for $100,000. It is said that at the meeting on Thursday Nenzel proposed to swing his control and to run the property to suit himself without any regard for the minority stockholders. The hearing on the new injunction has been set for January 18. In the meantime things are tense.

The El Paso city council protested to the general against bringing the Mexicans here, expressing fear that they would spread disease or might make a break for liberty and cause trouble. General Scott promised that he would be able to keep them inside the refuge camp, and that if disease should break out he could prevent its spread to the city.

The bandits took all wagons, saddles, mules, harness and everything else portable from the ranch. The saddle horses were driven across the international line by a quick-witted Mexican boy, and the bandits did not get any of them.

The Palomas Land & Cattle company ranches have been robbed and the managers held for ransom a number of times. There were forty bandits in the gang which looted the ranch most recently.
